Sahad A K was working as SAP project manager in Wipro for 10 years. It was during this time he required SAP consultants for the completion of projects in the company.

As senior SAP consultants were expensive, Sahad took freshers and trained them to deploy them in the projects. Soon the projects were successfully completed profitably as billing for freshers was lesser than experienced and senior consultants. He understood that there is a huge demand for young SAP freshers who can be readily deployable in projects. Sahad contacted SAP, and realised that the SAP was also moving in the same direction of training students right from the university. Soon, He left his job and started EME. The first pilot project was in JaiBharath college in 2015. Since then the company has been leading the initiative of creating readily deployable SAP professionals from campuses.

Today, Sahad is busy coordinating training programmes across colleges, universities and education institutes and training centres in India. Recently, his company entered into an MOU with Kannur University through which 13 MBA colleges accredited under the university will be provided with SAP training.

SAP which stands for Systems Applications and Products in Data Processing is the leading Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) software and consists of a number of fully integrated modules, which covers virtually every aspect of the business management. SAP is the number one in the ERP market. According to a news report, in 2018, SAP has more than 4,13,000 customers and 18,000 partners and 92% of Forbes Global 2000 customers.

As the requirements for SAP professionals began to increase, the company which earlier had limited retail providers of SAP training, expanded its program, focusing on universities around the world.

Taking advantage of this, Sahad's company is among the chosen few SAP Education University Partner Institutions across country, and the only one of its kind in Kerala. Since its inception, EME have trained over 7000 students as SAP professionals and set the record for the highest number of global certification for students. They have also made the record for the highest number of placement in national and global companies.

"I come from the family who runs Jaibharath Group which has over 20 years experience in education. It also runs 4 colleges and 1 school. Educating candidates and securing them a good placement gives such contentment," says Sahad.

FUTURE

This year we look forward to train 10,000 power users of SAP and 3000 professionals who complete global SAP certification. "We have a pool of SAP certified trainers. These trainers are methodically deployed to all the colleges which have tied up with us," says Joseph. Sahad and his team are working to open the floodgates of SAP training to more number of states in India. "Currently, 45- 50 colleges are undertaking this training. Soon we will touch 100 colleges," he concludes.

The possibilities of SAP training is immense. A few years back, students didn't pay much heed to it. But at least in South of India, there is a growing interest to get SAP training while in college, says Johny Joseph the general manager of EME.

As someone who has been always meeting college heads across the country, Joseph says that "SAP Student Academy program enables the institution to keep pace with this changing marketplace needs while expanding student career opportunities. The program also offers a more proficient way for higher-education institutions to deliver SAP software training. It enables access to high-value, electronic learning (e-learning) content from SAP Education."

The advantage SAP students academy program have is that the cost of the program is ten times more if the students opt it to do outside of the college. "The advantage is that after
